

Harvest Feast

November 22, 2011

The children at EOC Tech, Child Development Center, participated in preparing and then eating their Harvest Feast, Tuesday, November 22, 2011. All age groups participated in preparing the food while discussing the cultures of various groups. Each class was responsible for certain foods and duties. We believe that in this way children will be introduced to the traits of cooperating and sharing which were truly the foundations of the first Thanksgiving celebration. We did strive to emphasize the uniqueness and differences in the various Native American cultures in a way that is appropriate for young children.

Children prepared Cranberry Cupcakes. One class also prepared Turkey Pop Treats; The youngest class, dipped pretzels in chocolate. Children decorated place mats, table runners, and other items to decorate their tables. The morning was spent participating in various activities related to Harvest and Thanksgiving. The children came to the table wearing medallions and other pieces of costume with instructions to remember how each of the classes helped and contributed to the feast.
